GRANT WRITING WORKSHOP OCT. 28-29

JOIN US

You're invited to join a free two-day grant writing workshop hosted by Florida A&M University and in cooperation with Florida State University.

Who Should Attend?

This didactic in-person workshop is for faculty and trainees interested in pursuing NIH funding for their research. Learn the most fundamental pieces of grantsmanship that are broadly applicable to academics at different stages of the application process.

Who is Presenting?

iMERS will be presenting the workshop. Their team includes experts in proposal development and grants administration and faculty with an active research history. They will share their perspectives, experience, and guidance for navigating the complex NIH grant application process.
